Branson School Students Dedicate Yearbook to Epicurean Group Team

Los Altos, CA (June 11, 2017) – Epicurean Group, a sustainable food-service management company, received a very special honor from the 2017 graduating class of The Branson School in Marin County. The yearbook staff dedicated their entire yearbook to the kitchen team.

The yearbook dedication reads, “The senior class of 2017 would like to dedicate this edition of the Branson School’s yearbook to the Kitchen Staff. Thank you for always filling our stomachs with delicious cuisine. Your inclusiveness of different foods from a variety of cultures is recognized and greatly appreciated. We feel extremely blessed to be able to walk into the commons every day and have delicious food waiting for us. We are so lucky to have you at this school. The food you make for us never fails to bring a smile to both our faces and our bellies!”

The Branson School, an Epicurean Group client, is a co-ed college-prep school located in the small town of Ross. Head of School Christina Mazzola says, “We feel very lucky to be working with Epicurean Group. Chef Marcus Trigg and his team always have the needs of our students front and center, and it shows. They know the students personally, and take a great deal of pride in serving up healthy, local, delicious food each day – which is not always easy to do when feeding teenagers! Our students think so highly of the café team that the seniors dedicated the yearbook to them this year. They, and the work that they do, are much loved and appreciated by all of us at Branson.”

“My team and I are very honored by the student’s yearbook dedication,” says Marcus Trigg, Epicurean Group Chef/Manager. “We’re happy to be a part of The Branson School community and to learn that the students appreciate the healthy food and the variety of cuisines we prepare. It’s great to know that our work here makes a difference. We couldn’t be prouder.”
